- The affirmation that creation is inherently good, reflecting God's nature.
- The emphasis on God's ordering of chaos into a habitable world.

- The human quest for autonomy and mastery.
- The consequences of human rebellion against divine ordering.
- The introduction of disorder, alienation, and broken relationships.

He sees the Fall not just as a moral failure but as a story about the human condition of estrangement from God, others, and creation.

- Consequences of Disobedience: Pain, toil, and mortality.
- God's Continuing Grace: Despite human failure, God's promises and grace persist, pointing toward eventual restoration.

- To live in covenantal fidelity with God and neighbor.

The Human Condition and Divine Grace
